WESTERNERS ARE STRONG FOR JUSTICE HUGHES

Old Guard Trying to Sidetrack Roosevelt, But He Seems to Dominate the Situation, However

(Special to The Herald)
(By P. W. Hartford)

Chicago, June 8.—Having arrived here on Sunday, 7.30 a. m., two days in advance of the New Hampshire delegates, I had a fine opportunity to study the situation. I soon discovered that the National Committee was out to "do" T. R. if possible. It has been their plan to do anything to beat Roosevelt and if possible to nominate some one other than Hughes. There is no denying the strength shown by Hughes. It has been the sensation of the pre-convention so far.

from that section spread. Everyone was trying to analyze it. By many it was said to be the work of the Old Guard; but no one could find the marks.

The Hon. W. Murray Crane of Massachusetts has been lip-tonging and whispering about trying to claim the Hughes boom but he could not make the "boys" believe it. The plan nevertheless has been worked out as a maneuver to sidetrack the Colonel and then as one of the National committee-men said: "We can then name the man we want."

"At this hour it looks as though T. R. would dominate the situation even if the cards have been stacked against him. I have had several meetings with

HE WILL GO TO CHICAGO

Col. Roosevelt Will Address the Republican Convention.

(Special to The Herald)

Oyster Bay, L. I., June 8.—Former President Theodore Roosevelt will go to Chicago and address the Republican convention if the delegates request it. This was his answer to ex-Senator Jackson of Maryland, one of the Republican delegates who sent a personal invitation asking the Colonel to go to Chicago to address the convention in the interests of harmony. In his reply the Colonel referred to the world crisis that exists at this time and made the plea that the Republicans select a man who "shall rise level to the crisis," or in other words keep America at peace and at the same time give her the proper preparedness. Speaking of President Wilson, the Colonel declared he had "rendered this people the most evil service that can be rendered to a great democracy."

Republicans So Decide in Convention Today—Woman's Suffrage Plank Placed in Platform

(Special to The Herald)

The Coliseum, Chicago, June 8.—Justice Charles E. Hughes will be nominated by the Republican convention, probably tomorrow, unless George von L. Meyer, William Loeb, Jr., and the Roosevelt Republican committee agree to a Republican who can come with the support of Col. Roosevelt. This was decided on today at an early conference of the Republican leaders who are in absolute control of the convention. They decided there had been enough of "playing horse" with the

GERMANS TAKE FORT VAUX

(Special to The Herald)

Paris, June 8.—The capture by the Germans of Fort Vaux, a key position of the French northeast of Verdun, was officially admitted today by the French war office. The fort had been demolished by heavy shell fire before it was given up.

Gallant French soldiers under Major Maynard made a great defense of the fort for seven days, during which time the Germans attacked day and night, hurling wave after wave of troops against the fort and shelling it with great violence in the hill between infantry assaults. German attacks were made against the French position east and west of the fort all night, but despite their ferocity, all were repulsed.

Fort Vaux was known as the doorway to Verdun on the northeast. It lies on a high bluff and is only about three miles from the city of Verdun. This is the second of the forts defending Verdun to be captured by the Crown Prince. The first was Fort Douaumont.

PROGRESSIVES ADD TO THEIR PLATFORM

Demand Woman Suffrage, Powerful Navy, Standing Army of 250,000, Universal Military Training and Protective Tariff

(Special to The Herald)

Chicago, June 8.—From an all night session of the Progressive party's committee on resolutions, was born a platform that not only repeats the radical pronouncements of four years ago, but adds new features of striking character.

The platform was tailored to fit Col. Roosevelt only. Specifically the creed says that each and every item of the old platform which was hostily attacked by the Conservatives shall be considered as picked up bodily and included in the present statement of faith. Then it demands full woman suffrage, a navy second to England only, a standing army of 250,000 men, universal training but not service, with the training paid for out of the federal treasury, a reserve force that will be distinctively Federal and not National guard, and protective tariff.

The platform couples the issue with the man who is to lead and while saying that the Moose will support any man who measures up to the platform thus leaving down the bars for an agreed candidate, so restricts the specification as to what the man who acts as the exponent of the issues shall be that there is no body at the counter attraction at the Coliseum who can fill the specification. A sub-committee of the resolutions committee went into session at 10 o'clock to make a final revision of the draft. It will be adopted this afternoon when the convention meets at 2 o'clock.

GERMANS LOST ELEVEN SHIPS

Admiralty Admits Loss in Battle With the English.

(Special to The Herald)

Berlin, June 8.—The loss of 11 warships in the battle with the British off Jutland is now admitted by the Admiralty. They were one battle cruiser, one ship of the line of older construction, four small cruisers and five torpedo boats. Sixty-two first line ships were engaged on both sides, it is stated, not counting light cruisers, torpedo boat destroyers and submarines.

Was Being Towed to Base by Other Naval Vessels.

(Special to The Herald)

London, June 8.—The German battle cruiser Seydlitz sank off the coast of Denmark while being towed toward her base by destroyers and torpedo boats, according to a dispatch from Copenhagen to the Star today. A previous dispatch had stated that the Seydlitz was seen after the Jutland battle fleeing southward off the Danish coast in a badly damaged condition and hotly pursued by British warships.

MARINES CAPTURE GAME FROM THE CHAMPIONS

One of the Best Sunset League Games of the Season Won by the Post Team by a 1 to 0 Score Six Innings Were Necessary

It was a "peach" of a wallop that Eberhard drove to the right field fence in the sixth inning and it sent across the one run made in the game between the Champions and the Marines in their second battle of the season for Sunset League Honors. All the credit in the world is due "Abie" for his husky clout, for it was timely and hard, and it won for his team a clean victory. That the run was made by Reynolds, and that had Reynolds not been on, it is still possible that Bill Leary with the aid support he was getting, might have been able to hold the Marines scoreless by getting the next two men. But Gowen's hit of Reynolds' fly to center did the trick and one beautiful, hard played game was lost. In this statement the Marines are in no way being discredited, for they played excellent ball. And so did the Champions. It was an excellent exhibition of baseball as could be seen on any diamond in New England. It was tough luck for the P. A. S. to lose so well played a game and it would have been just as tough for the Marines if they had lost.

In playing their game the Post team were playing better ball than they have played so far this season. This brand of ball, if followed to the season's end is going to land them pretty close to the top of the list. Bruns, a new man at short stop, played a grand stand play; Reynolds was working great at second, and the whole team was working well. Hamer held the Champions to one lone hit.

In their turn, the Champions were putting up the right kind of stuff. They played air-tight ball all the way through the game and with the exception of Gowen's costly error, they worked perfectly. Bill Leary fanned seven batters; three in a row in the third inning and was touched for only three hits. It was a tough game to lose and still no disgrace. But it was the kind of baseball that Portsmouth wants and the fans can stand a lot of it.

The six innings were played in less time than is usually needed for the four and a half or five inning games. It was the first extra inning game of the season and was without the least bit of doubt, the best.

The Marines won the toss and took the field.

The Game
1st Inning.—R. Brackett fanned. McPheters out, Reynolds to Scott. Reynolds made a sensational one-handed catch of Bill Brackett's liner. No hits, no errors, no runs.

Richard singled cleanly to right but was forced by Scott. W. Brackett to McPheters. Deliden was fanned. McPheters grounded out to Charlie Brackett. One hit, no errors, no runs.

2d Inning.—Leary fanned to LeValley. In center, Lynskey and Howard were each retired at first. Hamer to Scott, on grounds. No hits, no errors, no runs.

Hamer fanned to McPheters. LeValley hit in front of the plate and was out at first. R. Brackett to Howard. LeValley out at first on a grounder to Bill Brackett. No hits, no errors, no runs.

3d Inning.—Gowen was thrown out at first on his grounder to Reynolds. C.

Brackett walked and stole second. Bruns made a wonderful circus catch of Bill Woods' liner. R. Brackett fanned to Bruns. No hits, no errors, no runs. Bill Leary got mad and fanned Bruns, Reynolds and Eberhard. No hits, no errors, no runs.

4th Inning.—McPheters was retired at first, Hamer to Scott. W. Brackett grounded to Reynolds and was out. Leary singled to right but was out stealing. McPheters to Reynolds. One hit, no errors, no runs.

Scott retired at first, McPheters to Howard. Deliden singled to left. McPheters fanned to Gowen. Hamer fanned. One hit, no errors, no runs.

5th Inning.—Lynskey safe when Bruns threw wild after stopping his grounder, Lynskey going second. LeValley made a sensational catch of Howard's fly to center. Lynskey took third on a passed ball. Gowen was out. Hamer to Scott. C. Brackett fanned. No hits, one error, no runs.

LeValley and Lynskey were fanned. Bruns out at first, Howard to Leary. No hits, no errors, no runs.

6th Inning.—Bruns made a fine stop and perfect throw, getting Woods on his hard-hit grounder to short. R. Brackett fanned to Deliden. McPheters fanned. No hits, no errors, no runs. Gowen dropped Reynolds' fly in center. Eberhard hit to right for three bases, sending Reynolds in with the one run needed for the game. The score:

WITH THE LOCAL SPORTS

It has been said a number of times that Portsmouth is baseball mad. For a town of its size it supports baseball in pretty good style. But to return, the Portsmouth athletes are putting up just as good ball as the fans are supporting. In a 50-50 proposition. That Sunset League game last night was about as fine a game as baseball history in the town can relate. It was a mighty hard game to lose, and Bill Leary was working fine, never better. The P. A. C. team was also working in great shape and the defeat hurt. The Marines played just as good ball and got the one break of luck needed to win when Gowen lost Reynolds' fly. It is questionable if another member of the team would have come through with a three bagger when it was as badly needed.

Some of the coldest men at the yard are of the opinion that their mascot, "Bully" had something to do with winning their game last evening. "Bully" made a decided hit for a few minutes at that, when he tore away from his command and chased across the field in the third inning. Hamer was just winding up for the second batter and from the results from where we sat it was a pretty good thing that the "goat" was recaptured, for he possed the batter, Charlie Brackett, and Charlie stole second. However "Bully" was recaptured and returned to his position on the third base bleachers and the next two men were out. He made a hit, and it would have been worth a fortune to a movie camera man to have been on the job while he was tearing across the diamond at a 2.10 clip.

In this evening's game the C. C. C. and the Wilder Shoe Company cross bats in their second meeting. The C. C. C. stands at the head of the league with a perfect record, and at the end of tonight's game they will still be in the same position, win or lose. If they win they hold the place with their 1,000 and if they lose they still stay there with 750. Should the Wilder company succeed in getting the victory they will go into second place with 800.

In their first meeting on May 9 the game ended in a 1 to 1 tie after five full innings had been played. The C. C. C. company made three hits, one error, one stolen base and had four men left on bases. The W. S. C. made five hits, no errors and eight left on; three in the last inning. Abrams fanned four and passed four. Holliday fanned three and passed four. Since that date the C. C. C. has been successfully winning, working Abrams and Tug Dismall. Holliday has been pitching most of the Wilder games but it is learned that Bush Hodgdon is pretty likely to be seen on the slab for them more or less often in the future. It is also a fact that the Wilder have twice tasted defeat.

Umpire Fred Hunter was pretty badly hurt for a few minutes last evening when he was hit by a pitched ball. He plainly showed that he was suffering considerable pain, but he remained on the job. Some of the fans, who take a certain delight in "bawling" out an umpire might at least show a slight amount of consideration for a man at such a time. Some of the remarks weren't very gentlemanly at the time.

No-hit, no-run games are few and far between and "Bush" Hodgdon has every right to feel pretty well pleased with his performance of yesterday. The Portsmouth high school pupils should feel pretty proud of the youngster and need not fear in the future that they lack a live, steady and safe pitcher. The fears of the first of the season, over the loss of Splice Jordan and Bill Shuttleworth are not fears at present.

It looked pretty natural to see George McPheters back in the diamond in a baseball uniform. He put in his first appearance in harness last evening, playing second base with the Champions. George knows baseball pretty well, was a consistent hitter last year and when he can't play second he can be used in a pinch in other positions, including the box. It is expected that he will add some little strength to a team which is rapidly regaining its stride. The Champions aren't denied for any permanent cellar position and the fan that thinks they are in kidding going to be expected that a pitcher can be working in tip-top form all of the time and that is what Bill Leary has had to do all this season. One inning's rest sometimes (without last season when fra Newell went in to the box when Bill was working bad and the one inning rest gave him his chance and he came back strong) places a pitcher that is pretty well used up, right on his feet again. If Bill continues to work the way he did last evening, though, he will never need a rest.

TODAY'S CONVENTION PROGRAM

11 a. m., report of committee on credentials.
Adoption of the permanent roll of the convention.
Reports of the committee on rules and order of business.
After the preliminaries of organization which usually occupy the first two sessions, the convention will nominate a candidate for President and Vice President, adopt the party platform and adjourn. Arrangements will be made to hold night sessions if necessary.

Old timers, some of them are talking of Warren G. Harding and wonder if 1890 is to be repeated this year. Thirty-six years ago, two strong candidates, Ulysses S. Grant, and James G. Blaine, headlocked and Jas. A. Garfield, chairman of the convention who had scarcely been thought of before, was nominated. Grant and Blaine are replaced this year by Hughes and Roosevelt. The 1890 convention was held in Chicago, too.

Uncle Joe Cannon of Illinois, who has attended every Republican convention except two since 1890, is a center of attraction. Almost the entire delegation of the G. O. P. in congress is here. By a gentleman's agreement no legislation in Washington will be taken up while the Republicans are away.

Nothing is lively in the corridors. This is a prosperous year. Money is free and everybody is taking a chance on his opinion of what's to be what. Presidential Row in the Congress hotel today is about the liveliest place on earth, barring Nevada and the Coliseum. Micrographs and typewriters are working in batteries are pouring hot shot and shell on the nation. Homers, managers and press agents of diverse sorts are working in their shirt sleeves and it is a poor few minutes when ten now statements don't emanate.

NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME FOR "BUSH" HODGDON

Portsmouth High Hangs a Pretty Coat of White Wash on Dover High, Winning Yesterday's Game by a 7 to 0 Score

Portsmouth High School, evened things up yesterday afternoon when they defeated Dover High on the local grounds, administering a liberal coat of whitewash and winning to the tune of 7 to 0. Hodgdon, the 1915 season's "Bud" as a star pitcher, added new laurels to those already gained by pitching a no-hit, no-run game against the up-river high school boys, and his team mates backed him throughout the game, battling in a few runs and taking advantage of the errors made by Dover. Had Dover made fewer errors the final score would have been 3 to 0 as 3 runs were all that were earned. It was an off day for the visitors but at that they put up a pretty stiff, game clean fight. Their inability to hit Hodgdon was their undoing.

But one long hit was made, that of Butler's in the third inning when Thompson had started things going by his single. Three times Portsmouth pushed a couple of runs across; in the first, third, and sixth, and in the seventh, without a hit, they killed one more. Portsmouth made six clean hits off Fisher for a total of nine bases, three sacrifice hits and stole six bases.

The visitors went back to their home town without a hit; two coaching first on free tickets, and two on errors, and one base was pilfered. Hodgdon fanned eight batters and the P. H. S. men took care of all the balls that were hit with the exception of one hard one to second which Thompson lost and one missed by Thompson. In the last inning Akerman replaced Butler and Perkins covered short in place of Thompson. With one man out and a man on first through an error, Akerman came to time and with the help of Thompson and Butler, retired the side for the last time on a fast double play, the ball being hit sharply to Akerman.

The Game
1st Inning.—Finnegan and M. Cavanaugh each hit grounders to Thompson and were thrown out at first. Thompson fanned to Hodgdon. No hits, no errors, no runs.

Mulholland singled. On the hit-and-run game Thompson dumped a pretty bait and was out. Fisher to Ham; Mulholland continuing to third and coming home with the first run on Ham's over-throw of third to catch him there. Butler was safe when Calcutt gave the ball wild to first, Butler going to second. Early captured Butler's high foul fly. Thompson batted one through Calcutt. Butler bawling, Craig singled to center. Carlier made the third out, fanning. Two hits, two errors, two runs.

2d Inning.—Calcutt popped to Hamer. Ham fanned to Craig. Fisher fanned to Mulholland. No hits, no errors, no runs. Smith hit a pretty single to right but was out stealing. M. Cavanaugh to Brennan. Hodgdon grounded to Fisher and was tossed out. Mulholland grounded out to Ham. One hit, no errors, no runs.

3d Inning.—Wentworth fanned to Thompson. Early was tossed out by Hodgdon. T. Cavanaugh fanned. No hits, no errors, no runs.

Thompson singled through short. Butler hit to left for three bases, scoring Thompson. Butler scored on Bailey's sacrifice fly to Finnegan. Thompson popped to Fisher. Craig out on a fast grounder, Calcutt to Ham. Two hits, no errors, two runs.

4th Inning.—Thompson missed Finnegan's hard grounder and he was safe at first, stealing second. M. Cavanaugh fanned, Brennan grounded to Hodgdon and was thrown out. Calcutt walked. Ham's grounder went to Thompson and he was retired at first. No hits, one error, no runs.

Currier out at first on a grounder. Ham unassisted. Smith was tossed out by Fisher. Hodgdon retired on a grounder. Early to Ham. No hits, no errors, no runs.

5th Inning.—Fisher out at first. Thompson to Bailey. Butler threw out. Wentworth at first. Early fanned. No hits, no errors, no runs. Mulholland again grounded to Ham and was out at first. Thompson fanned to Wentworth in center. Butler was positioned at first on a grounder to Calcutt. No hits, no errors, no runs.

6th Inning.—Hodgdon fanned in a row. T. Cavanaugh, Finnegan, and M. Cavanaugh. No hits, no errors, no runs.

Calcutt booted Thompson's hard hit grounder. Craig fanned to Finnegan. Currier singled to right, advancing Thompson to third, and stealing second. Smith hit the ball to Fisher who fumbled, allowing Thompson to score. Hodgdon was safe on his grounder to Calcutt and Currier scored, the throw coming too late to the plate to out of the run. Mulholland out on a foul fly to Ham. Thompson fanned to Finnegan. One hit, two errors, two runs.

7th Inning.—Brennan and Calcutt made the mistake of hitting to Thompson and both were thrown out at first.

Ham fanned to Craig. No hits, no errors, no runs. Butler and Bailey retired on grounders to Calcutt. Thompson fanned. No hits, no errors, no runs.

8th Inning.—Fisher fanned to Mulholland. Wentworth fanned. Early walked. DeSautele, sent in as a pinch hitter for T. Cavanaugh, was fanned. No hits, no errors, no runs.

Craig safe at first on Early's error. Finnegan dropped Currier's fly and Craig went second. They pulled a pretty double steal. Smith came to third with a sacrifice fly to Wentworth. Currier stole third. On an attempted squeeze play Currier was out at this plate. Fisher to M. Cavanaugh. Hodgdon grounded to Calcutt and was out at first. No hits, two errors, one that squeeze play Currier was out at this plate. Fisher to M. Cavanaugh. Hodgdon grounded to Calcutt and was out at first. No hits, two errors, one that squeeze play Currier was out at this plate.

9th Inning.—Finnegan fanned to Thompson. M. Cavanaugh was safe when Thompson fumbled his grounder. Brennan forced Cavanaugh and was himself retired on a fast double play. Akerman hit Thompson to Bailey. No hits, one error, no runs. The score:

POLICE NEWS

At noon today Patrolman Anderson will be transferred from the night west end beat to traffic duty at the corner of Vaughan and Congress streets. The night west end beat will be covered by Patrolman George W. Mulholland beginning this evening, the newly appointed officer named by the police commissioners at their meeting on Monday evening.

This drunk was registered on the police blotter at midnight.

A MERCILESS JUDGE

One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Portsmouth resident has withstood the sternest of all tests.

G. S. Chandler, distributor, 15 Franklin St., Portsmouth, says: "About a year ago I suffered from a severe attack of kidney trouble. I do a great deal of walking and am, therefore, subject to this complaint. Kidney weakness also interfered with my work. In fact, at one time I was forced to quit on account of it. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Phillips' Pharmacy, absolutely cured me of the trouble and ever since then, I haven't had the slightest return of it." (Statement given July 18, 1905).

On October 20, 1915, Mr. Chandler said: "Doan's Kidney Pills gave me excellent results and I have had no occasion to use them since, although that was ten years ago."

GERMANS ARE ROUTED ON ATTACK ON VAUX

French Cannon and Machine Guns Play Fearful Havoc With Assailants Against Outer Posts of Verdun

Paris, June 7.—The repulse of a powerful German attack on Fort Vaux, on the Verdun line, with heavy losses to the attackers, is announced in an official statement issued by the War Office today. Violent bombardment of the fort is still being carried on by the Germans.

The attack on Fort Vaux started at eight o'clock last night and was promptly checked by the fire of the French machine guns. It is announced that the Germans retreated in disorder, abandoning many dead. At 11:30 an artillery duel is in progress and also at the Caurettes wood. Two German patrols, which tried to cross the river Aisne, west of Soissons, were dispersed.

"On the left bank of the River Meuse there has been artillery fighting in the section of 1111 304 and in the section of the Caurettes wood.

"On the right bank of the river a strong German attack yesterday evening at about eight o'clock upon Fort Vaux was broken by the fire of our machine guns. The enemy was driven back in disorder, leaving numerous dead on the field of battle. The German artillery responded with energy, and the bombardment of Fort Vaux and the region immediately surrounding it continues.

"In the Vosges there has been an intense bombardment of our first line positions at Hartmannsweilerkopf."

The official statement issued by the War Office last night reads:

"On the front north of Verdun no infantry action was reported during the course of the day. The artillery struggle, however, continued with undiminished violence in the region of Vaux and Dambloup. Major Rymal, who defended Fort Vaux with indefatigable energy, has been made commander of the Legion of Honor."

Disperse German Patrols

Paris, June 7.—The official report issued this afternoon says:

"To the west of Soissons two German patrols which were endeavoring to cross the river Aisne were dispersed at a point near Fontenoy. The fire of our artillery destroyed several observatories of the enemy east of Neuveville."

"In the Argonne district, at La Fille Mortie, we caused the explosion with success of three mines."

Russian Drive "Brilliant"

Petrograd, June 7.—The sudden blow struck by the Russians along the entire Galician front of 275 miles from the Pripiet to Romania is in the unanimous opinion of the military critics here a brilliant beginning of the long-awaited Russian offensive. The condition of the roads is now "perfect" and with a plentiful supply of ammunition the Russian advance is expected to develop swiftly.

The movement derives significance from the fact, that it is not an isolated attack against any one portion of the Austrian lines, but a carefully coordinated movement embracing the whole front. The movement is under the able leadership of General Brusilov, who conducted the brilliant campaign in the Carpathians in 1914 and who is generally conceded to be one of the best strategists of the Russian staff.

The forces opposing the Russian advance are estimated at forty Austrian infantry divisions and from ten to fifteen Austrian cavalry divisions, assisted by, at the most, two divisions of Germans. This brings the total Teutonic forces operating on this front up to 500,000 men. No details of the Russian attack are yet at hand, but it was preceded, as usual, by a vigorous artillery bombardment, after which the Russians moved forward along the whole line, capturing first-line Austrian positions. The initiative belongs entirely to the Russians, and the Austrians, evidently taken by surprise, fell back without being able to start a counter offensive.

Powerful Aid to Italy

Aside from its military and strategic importance for this front, the Russian movement undoubtedly will have a powerful effect upon the military situation elsewhere, decreasing Austrian pressure on the Italian front from the necessity of bringing reinforcements to this theatre, while it also is expected to influence the situation in the Balkans.

The War Office communication issued yesterday says:

"In the region of Delank and north of the Pontewesch railway a German offensive was repulsed by our fire. South of Smorgon Sunday night the Germans attempted to capture one of our advance trenches, but our machine gun fire and a counter-attack compelled them to retire to their own trenches."

"South of Krevo Monday, the Germans, after artillery preparations, attempted an offensive against our advanced elements near the village of Kotchansk, but were repulsed by our reserves."

"On the front from the Pripiet River to the Romanian frontier we continue to develop successes. Thus far we have taken as prisoners 400 officers and over 25,000 men and captured twenty-seven guns and over fifty machine guns."

Italians Regain a Little

Rome, via London, June 6.—The following official communication was issued by the war office:

"In the Adige valley Sunday night we repulsed a surprise attack, during a snowstorm on our positions on the upper Vallarsa and Pasubio sections. Yesterday after intense artillery preparation, enemy columns advanced to attack Cont Zingari but were thrown back in disorder under our steady and effective fire."

"On the front of Posina-Astico Sunday night during a storm the enemy again launched great masses of infantry, supported by violent fire from batteries of all calibers, against our positions between Monte Glave and Monte Brazzo. The swift intervention of our artillery and the steadiness of our infantry succeeded in completely repulsing the attack with heavy enemy losses. The same night, by a fortunate counter-attack, we succeeded in gaining ground on the western slope of Monte Glave."

On the Asiago plateau Sunday night and Monday morning the enemy maintained his violent artillery and machine gun fire on our positions along the Campanone Valley, and in the afternoon made persistent attacks against our positions, which were all vigorously repulsed.

"On the upper Coisdevote an enemy column on the march from Pralongia, toward Sief, was dispersed by the accurate fire of one of our batteries. In the Pusterla Valley we bombarded with heavy guns the Toblach and Immenhof railway station."

"On the Isonzo our detachments continue their raids on the enemy lines."

"Enemy airmen threw bombs on Ala and Verona. Three persons were wounded and some material damage was done."

Turks' Attacks Futile

Petrograd, June 7.—The official war report issued says:

"In the Caucasus region in the direction of Balbut and Eraingan the Turks, supported by artillery, took the offensive on many sections. All their attacks were repulsed. Near Khanikin 130 versts northeast of Bagdad, we had a successful action against the Turks on Sunday."

ATTACKS NAVAY APPROPRIATION BILL

New York, June 5.—J. Bernard Walker, editor of the Scientific American and a noted authority on naval affairs, in a speech delivered at a recent meeting of the National Security League, attacked vigorously the Naval Appropriation bill as reported to the House of Representatives as totally inadequate to the nation's needs, and made a strong appeal for the enactment of a law along the lines of the recommendations made by the General Board of the Navy.

After reviewing the history of the "New Navy" up to the present time, showing why we lost second place, Mr. Walker pointed out the Navy's needs to bring up to second place in the Atlantic and first place in the Pacific.

Mr. Walker summed up as follows: "Summing up, then, the conditions which go to prove our state of naval unpreparedness, we find that in 1905, in accordance with a well-defined National policy for the protection of the United States and the safeguarding of our world-wide interests, we possessed the second strongest navy in the world, with an advantage over the third strongest navy of 25 per cent in battleships and over 100 per cent in gun power. We find that in consequence of the neglect of the past decade, we have sunk to the position of a poor third, and that the naval power which stood third in 1905 has taken our place, and has reversed the conditions so completely that she is now stronger in ships by over 100 per cent, and is nearly double our strength in total gun power. We find that, whereas her dreadnought fleet includes six battle cruisers, we possess not a single one. We find that, if our fleet moved out to meet an approaching enemy, it would be for all practical purposes about as blind as a bat, and because of its lack of fast scouts and battle cruisers, it could neither find out anything much about the enemy nor prevent the enemy from finding out anything. It pleased about ourselves. We find that, because of our shortage in destroyers, we would not be able effectively to screen our fleet of capital ships, from destroyers and submarine attack, nor would we have sufficient of these craft to make a fully effective demonstration against an enemy fleet. We find that because of the small size of our submarines, they would not be able to venture far from coasts, and if they did so would, in rough weather, be so slow and uncomfortable as to be a practically negligible asset for operations on the high seas. We find that, in the necessities of a fleet, such as fuel, repair, supply, and hospital ships, we are deficient. And lastly, and most important of all, we find that our fleet is most dangerously undermanned inasmuch as we have a total personnel of all kinds of only 60,000, whereas if war was sprung suddenly upon us we would need over 100,000.

"Verily we are unprepared. Verily, in view of the frightful world 'conflagration' and the pitifully inadequate provision now being made by Congress to guard against the danger, we may be described as sleeping over a volcano."

"Mr. Chairman and members of the National Security League, we have gathered here today to protest against the Navy bill, now under consideration by the House, as being utterly inadequate to meet the present crisis, and to urge upon Congress that it should include its personnel and non-professional funds and families, and be guided by the only men who are qualified to determine just what should be done, and how fast it should be done, to restore the United States to its former and most proper position as the second great naval power of the world."

"In response to a request by Congressman Butler, that the General Board of the Navy state what additions to our Navy would be necessary to restore it to second rank, this expert body, which was formed fifteen years ago for the purpose of studying this very kind of question, stated that we would require 15 dreadnoughts, of which 8 should be battleships and 7 battle-cruisers, 21 fast scouts, 50 destroyers, 7 large submarines capable of accompanying the fleet, and 78 coast-

CABLE SENT TO GERARD
ON "PEACE"

LANSING ASKS AMBASSADOR IN BERLIN WHETHER HE GAVE INTERVIEWS CREDITED TO HIM.

Washington, June 7.—Secretary Lansing said late yesterday that he had cabled Ambassador Gerard at Berlin asking whether he had given out interviews on the subject of peace which recently have been credited to him by newspapers in Germany, and sent to this country in press despatches.

In the interviews Ambassador Gerard was quoted as saying that settlement of peace and the American difference prepared the way for President Wilson to take up the question of peace and as referring to the President's peace utterances in connection with the presidential campaign. State Department officials do not believe Mr. Gerard made such statements and had expected him to send a denial on his own initiative. When no denial came it was determined that an inquiry should be made.

defensive submarines, and a $7,000,000 appropriation for the betterment of the aeroplane service.

"Now, as compared with this, the House Naval bill asks for no battleships. As against 5 necessary to put us back into second position; it asks for 5 battle cruisers as against 10; it asks for 4 scouts, as against 21; it asks for 10 destroyers, as against 50; and it asks for 20 submarines as against 55. It asks for $2,000,000 for the aeroplane service, as against $7,000,000 and it asks for about 15,000 men where at least 20,000 are demanded.

"If Congress is alive to the present serious conditions it will take this statement of the General Board as the additions to our fleet necessary to put us again in second position; vote at once the sum necessary to cover its construction; authorize the laying down of these ships, at once, to the full capacity of our shipbuilding yards, both naval and private; and arrange for the total sum, as thus authorized, to be expended in amounts sufficient to cover the maximum annual shipbuilding output of the yards, armor plants and gun factories engaged in the work."

"I am reliably informed that, so far as the Navy is concerned, there is no legal obstacle to prevent this Congress from appropriating the whole lump sum necessary for the construction of the additional ships required to put us back into second position. As regards our shipbuilding capacity, I would state that one of our naval constructors, after a careful survey of our existing shipbuilding facilities, informed me that by lengthening certain building ways, both in our naval and private yards, and doing some dredging to accommodate the ships when launched, it would be possible to lay down 10 ships of the dreadnought size during the present year."

ARMENIAN RELIEF

Rev. John Knox Tibbitts, secretary of the New Hampshire War Relief Committee, has received a letter from the secretary of the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief, saying in part:

"I wish to send greetings and to say that the fund now amounts to about $550,000. It may also be said that at least a million and a half dollars have been sent to the suffering Christians in Turkey and Persia. Full letters from our commissions in the Caucasus and Persia show that it has been possible to save from starvation and cold a large number of those who died there."

"An effort is being made by the representatives of our Committee to aid many of these people to return to their homes in that portion of Armenia now in the hands of the Russians. They need seeds and implements as everything of this kind has been taken from them."

"The Turkish Government is now willing to permit distribution of relief to those who were reported to Mesopotamia and other portions of the Empire."

"To carry on this work we need more funds at the earliest possible moment. We are, therefore, asking all communities to report by May first and to forward such funds as are in hand. You will be interested to know that the last sum of $50,000 collected by the Rockefeller Foundation, making $205,000 which that organization has generously contributed. This should be an incentive to make our contributions as large as possible."

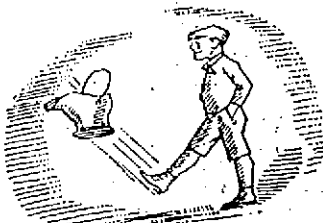

"We appreciate very much the generous contributions received through your committee."

LITTLE JOHNNY SMILES

Why is little Johnny pleased?
Because he doesn't have to fill the coal-bod any more.

Is that all?

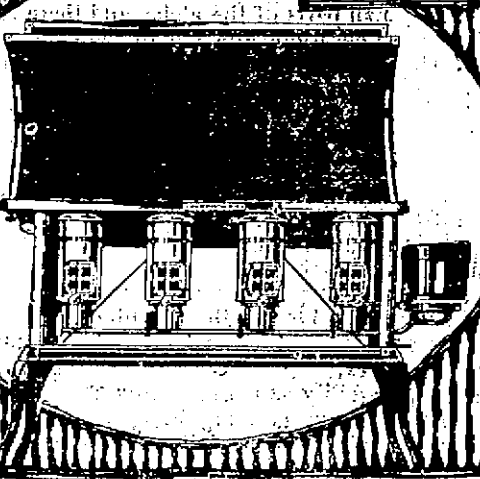

No. He doesn't have to fill the wood-box any more either, nor empty the ashes. You see, Johnny's mother has bought a New Perfection Oil Cook Stove. Instead of coal or wood, she burns Socony Kerosene Oil, and it costs her only six cents a day to cook for a family of six.

How nice for Johnny!

Look for the long blue chimney burner—that's what makes the New Perfection efficient and trouble-proof. The 1916 models have the new patented reversible glass reservoir and many other improvements. Sold in 1, 2, 3- and 4-burner sizes by hardware, furniture and general stores everywhere.

The Circus as an Institution.

The circus season is with us once again and different aggregations, all "stupendous" and "unprecedented," are appearing in different parts of the country to the delectation of old and young.

There are many who deem it proper to scoff at the circus and to reiterate the time-worn cry, "See one and you have seen all." But the public does not view the matter in this light, as is proved every time a good circus comes along.

The fact is that the circus has its legitimate place in the economy of modern life. It ranks as a leader in public entertainment and is as proper, when properly conducted, as the theatre or the concert.

There is no reason why any one should apologize or offer excuses of any sort for going to a good circus. The performances display physical skill and mental ability of a high order, and the trained animals alone well repay the price of admission. The menagerie which is usually carried by the circus of any pretensions is educative in the fullest sense of the term, and parents who fail to take their children to see the animals, reptiles and birds collected from the four quarters of the earth make a grave mistake.

There is a great deal to be learned from the sight of these curiosities from all parts of the globe, and there is also much to be learned in observing the acts of the circus performers. The present, beyond all others, is the age of athletics, but how many of our boasted school and college athletes can approach the performances of the circus men and women?

There are very few public entertainments which appeal so powerfully to children and young people as does the circus. The performances are full of thrills. There are displays of muscle and skill such as are seen nowhere else, and in spite of all the scoffing and sneering there is in the circus much to be learned that is well worth knowing.

As a business enterprise the circus ranks with the biggest. The public has little idea of the executive ability required to move such an aggregation about the country with the precision of clock work. The management of a circus calls for as great executive ability as is exacted by any industry or business. The big circus is a big thing in every sense of the word, and the public's appreciation of it is attested in a way that leaves no room for question.

Revenue figures show that the consumption of distilled liquors has increased in the past year, and that the consumption of beer has decreased. The explanation most commonly offered is that the condition is due to the spread of prohibition, which is liable to work in favor of the "hard liquor" trade by making it necessary to compress the largest number of "drunks" into the smallest space. Beer is too bulky to be carried on the hip.

At least one momentous issue has been settled. Louis D. Brandeis has "landed" on the bench of the United States supreme court after one of the greatest struggles that was ever made over such an appointment. It is to be hoped his services will justify the appointing power and the efforts of the friends who stood by him during the strenuous days that followed the presentation of his name for the high honor.

The prohibitionists do not lack prominent presidential timber, if it is true that ex-Governors St. John of Kansas, Sulzer of New York and Foss of Massachusetts are all available. But neither the prohibitionists nor anybody else expects to see either of these eminent gentlemen elected president of the United States next fall.

June is living fully up to its reputation as the month of weddings. It is regrettable to think that some of the happy affairs will in all probability eventuate in divorce proceedings, but the records of the divorce courts make this unwelcome thought inescapable.

A contemporary says advance copies of the prayer to be offered at one of the great political conventions have already been supplied to the newspapers. But of course the censor will see to it that it does not reach ultimate headquarters ahead of time.

Figures show that the value of farm lands in this country is steadily rising. And there's a reason. The fact is that American farmers never worked under more favorable conditions than those which now prevail.

No part of the country will escape the breezes from the Windy City for the next few days. And there is no part that wants to.

The latest news from Europe doesn't sound much like peace.

The Observer

The hall in the upper part of the building on the corner of Congress and Fleet streets, generally known as Union Veterans Union hall, has undergone a wonderful transformation at the hands of the painters and decorators. From an artistic point of view and to the younger generation the adornment of the walls with marble pillars and Grecian scenes is considered an improvement, but to one who has known the hall from its early days the change is noted with a degree of sadness. The room for a number of years was occupied as a Commercial college, conducted by the late Lewis H. Smith and was attended by many young men who now hold responsible positions in Boston as well as this city. Later it became the headquarters and home of the General Gilman Marathon Command Union Veterans Union. The walls were adorned with pictures of well known Civil war veterans as well as trophies of the great strife when the North and South were engaged in fierce combat.

The renovation of the hall marks the passing of these likenesses and the mementos that connected the present era with the stirring events of 50 years ago. The familiar likenesses of Joseph H. Curtis, ex-Postmaster William O. Sides, Hon. John A. McCarry, Captain Samuel H. Pillsbury, Carl Carly, ex-Mayor John S. Treat, Francis H. Johnson and other veterans who have answered the last roll call, are gone from their accustomed places as well as those of Leslie Norman, W. Scott Smith, George L. F. Durbin and other veterans who still survive. New these and the other trophies that adorned the walls are mentioned among private individuals and in a great many cases will soon be forgotten and a thing of the past.

The writer in this column has on several occasions expressed the opinion that one of the great needs of Portsmouth was a building to be used as a historical museum. No city in New England is richer in historical associations than Portsmouth and if we had such a building I have no doubt that this interesting collection of portraits and war relics would have been preserved. The late James H. Stanwood, who by the way was an honorary member of General Gilman Marathon Command Union Veterans Union, left a valuable collection of autographs, pictures and war documents. These are displayed in one room at the New Hampshire Historical building at Concord and form a very interesting exhibit. In connection I may also say that valuable data regarding the early history of our city compiled by the late Lewis W. Brewster and Samuel Dodge, as well as files of some of our early papers have been acquired by Major Hammond for the Historical building at the capital city. It can be plainly seen that Concord is the winner and Portsmouth the loser from the historical standpoint.

Portsmouth has on several occasions had opportunities to secure gifts from liberal citizens that would have beautified our city and been lasting mementos, but owing to the short sightedness or opposition on the part of some one who had an axe to grind the would be donor became embittered and the city was the loser. A few years prior to his death the late J. Albert Walker had plans made for an elaborate public library to be erected on Middle street, the stipulation being that it should be called the Walker public library. The naming of the library after a citizen was opposed in certain quarters and Mr. Walker withdrew his generous offer. Woodbury Langdon made a very generous offer for the beautifying of the South pond, in conjunction with an appropriation from the city. Opposition developed in certain quarters and Mr. Langdon withdrew his offer and it is not likely that the city will again receive an offer of substantial aid, that would have gone so far towards beautifying our city.

Of late years we have heard a great deal through the public press of the need of a central fire station. I have been told on excellent authority that the late Marcellus Eldredge, when mayor of this city, had plans formulated for the gift of an up-to-date central station to occupy the spot on Pleasant street where now stands the Globe building. Mr. Eldredge was identified with the brewing interests of the city, and when in 1887, he in conjunction with his mother and brother H. Fisher Eldredge presented this city with the Soldiers' monument which now stands in Goodwin Park, the site being purchased by the Eldredges, opposition was manifested in certain quarters against Mr. Eldredge owing to the business he was engaged in, and he changed his mind in regard to presenting this city with a central fire station and shortly afterwards took up his abode in Boston. It will be readily seen that Portsmouth has had some most excellent opportunities of which it should have taken advantage of and more would undoubtedly have followed.

Is it not time to drop all of these petty animosities and grasp another one of these opportunities now presented? Other cities take advantage of the gifts of their generous minded citizens. Why should Portsmouth lose out in this respect?

CURRENT OPINION

Nations, like men, have open to them three fundamental methods of meeting a force that menaces them from without—resistance, the attempt to overwhelm that force by a greater force acting in the opposite direction; non-resistance, the attempt to frustrate that force by letting it exhaust itself through encountering no obstacles, and super-resistance, the attempt to convert that force by turning it into the opposite direction through the attraction of an imaginative substitute.

To awaken from complacency, indeed, is the first step the United States must take if it desires peace for itself and to help bring peace to the world. That step taken, it must cease squandering its inheritance and set about the task of immobilizing its disintegrated forces of super-resistance—social, industrial, political, educational and religious. It must wipe out the stigma of dollar worship by fashioning a creative national purpose. It must focus on itself the admiration of the world by making an America where men are free in fact as well as in name.

The program for that work must be bold and imaginative. No half measures will suffice at this crisis of world history. And the working relation that the political part of that program should bear to the question of military preparedness is this:

No increase in armament that is not coupled with some social amelioration, some enhancement of genuine democracy, is entitled to a moment's consideration from the American people.—By Professor Harold C. Goddard, Swarthmore College.

our old friend, George L. Von Meyer. When I met him Sunday he said: "Well, how is the Portsmouth Navy Yard?" I said: "Still the greatest on the Atlantic coast and making good." From our conversation it is evident that he has changed his mind regarding navy yards.

George W. Perkins, Clifford Pinchot, Winston Churchill, Senator Lodge, Senator Weeks, former Senator Guggenheim, Chairman Charles D. Hildes, William Loeb, Jr., Hon. George H. Cortelyou, George Satterlee, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Hon. Hiram Johnson were among the prominent Roosevelt leaders with whom I talked and to a man they believe that Teddy can sweep the country. The thousands outside of the delegates are for T. R. ten to one.

The main happenings of course have already been received in The Chronicle and Herald wire news service. I am just adding a few personal notes as I see the situation.

The New Hampshire delegation was met at the station by myself and George H. Moses and as I had a badge from the Mayor of Chicago as a member of the entertainment committee I had a dozen notes in waiting and conveyed them to their hotel. There are hundreds of notes for the reception committee and today I met with the committee and planned the program for the entertainment in behalf of the City of Chicago for the New Hampshire party. Mayor Thompson is doing things in fine style. On Friday the men and their wives of the party will be given a luncheon by the city. On Tuesday, Colonel John H. Bartlett took the party to see Montgomery & Stone in "China China." This evening Hon. R. W. Pillsbury is to give a dinner party. On Tuesday evening the New Hampshire newspaper men were entertained at the Hamilton Club. New Hampshire is on the map here and Portsmouth is doing its share.

Whoever wins, the Portsmouth navy yard will have a friend in court. That has been made certain.

I wish I had brought my overcoat and had left my B. V. D.'s at home. It will please a certain friend on Market street to know that I was mighty glad I failed to connect with my summer suit. Aside from paying $1.50 for one order of macaroni and cheese and sixty cents for pea soup, I haven't lost anything important. Of course, the coats in the rooms are small and prices high, but then it is exciting and one does not go to a national convention to sleep.

The New Hampshire delegation is occupying fine quarters at the Hotel La Salle, and Chairman F. W. Estabrook has left nothing wanting in the way of comforts.

PEOPLES' OPINION

Give Mechanic a Chance

Your paper recently announced that the veteran firemen are to take part in a muster at Plaistow, N. H., on July 4 and also contest against other companies in a hand tub payout.

I hope that the men on the brakes of the Eureka will capture first prize but the old machine and her crew must be in good shape for the contest.

Why not "preparedness" for the Eureka and apply that relief valve to prevent any blow-ups which "Mechanics" suggested many times last season. His idea sounds good and I would recommend that he be given at least a chance to try out his scheme.

We want first money to come to Portsmouth and we want our boys to be prepared to take it and take it quick and easy against all comers.

PREPAREDNESS.

Still Claims Relief Valve Will Do the Trick

I read in The Chronicle of Thursday, a communication regarding the local hand tub which made reference to the relief valve attachment which I offered to put on the suction pipe, and which I claimed, and still claim, will increase the power of the pump by eliminating the air drawn in through the suction pipe by the action of the pumps and taking it from the water.

The cause of broken streams, is an everybody knows, the air, and my attachment removes that. It will also remove the strain on the working parts and points which is caused by the water vapor which is a mixture of water and air.

I make my offer without any expectation or desire of reward and with the desire to help the boys make a good showing at the muster.

My attachment is not a theory but an established fact and has been used on hand tubs in New York state for many years. If the local boys wish my services I will be only too glad to aid them.

A RAILROAD'S HAPPY THOUGHT

One of the railroads wanted to attract the attention of the advertising men to the Toronto Convention.

So it got out its circular in the form of a bright, snappy newspaper.

Naturally the railroad thinks in terms of newspapers when it thinks about getting a new business.

It is a large, consistent user of newspaper space and it has found that such advertising increases business and wins the good will of the public.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

David Lloyd George Planned to Accompany Kitchener But Gave It Up.

(Special to The Herald)

London, June 8.—But for the fatal circumstances that his duties as pacificator of Ireland kept him at home, David Lloyd George, foremost of British statesmen, would have lost his life along with Lord Kitchener on the cruiser Hampshire when that vessel was sunk on Monday. It has been decided, says the Express, that Mr. Lloyd George would accompany the war secretary to Russia to discuss the question of munitions for the Russian army, but the duties of mediating the political troubles in Ireland were so pressing that it was later decided to keep Mr. Lloyd George at home and send Leslie Robertson of the ministry of munitions instead.

JUSTICE HUGHES IS ATTACKED

When the Judiciary Becomes Corrupt, the Nation Is Decaying.

Washington, June 8.—The fact that Justice Hughes has permitted his name to be used as a possible presidential nominee without protest, was attacked in the House today by Representative Murray of Oklahoma, who quoted James Bryce, declaring that when the judiciary of America becomes corrupt, the nation is in its last day stage of decadence.

YOUNG BRIDE IS ARRESTED

Georgetown Girl Who Eloped Charged With Being a Stubborn Child.

Washington, June 8.—Twenty minutes after her return from Hellows Falls, where she was married, Mrs. George Maguire was arrested here on Wednesday night by Chief of Police Ellwood T. Wildes of Georgetown on a warrant charging her with being a stubborn child.

Last Friday, Mrs. Maguire, who was then Miss Gertrude Hill, eloped with Maguire from her home in Georgetown. The girl's mother, Mrs. Helen Hill, who has been opposed to the attentions paid her daughter by Maguire, telephoned to the Haverhill police Saturday, after she had noted her daughter's absence, and asked them to apprehend the girl. She said at that time she suspected an elopement. The police could find no trace of the young couple, who it was learned Wednesday went to several other places before reaching Hellows Falls. Last Monday Mrs. Hill applied to the district court, and a warrant was issued for the arrest of her daughter on the charge of stubbornness.

Maguire accompanied his wife to the police station after her arrest. Today she was held in $200 bail for the district court. Maguire is 24 years old and his wife is 18.

WILL NOMINATE HUGHES FRIDAY

Progressive convention delegates. The radical elements control the convention, and it was made very plain that Col. Roosevelt himself realizes this.

So the leaders mapped out their program to provide for the acceptance without discussion of the temporary roll as presented to the convention by the national committee; to adopt the platform and complete all other business if possible, so that nominations would be the only thing left for Friday. The only thing that would prevent was delay in the reports of the resolutions committee. The Republican leaders are convinced that Col. Roosevelt will not be a candidate on the Progressive ticket when the voters go to the polls next November.

Leaders of the boom for Senator Burton of Ohio practically admitted defeat today and declared they would turn their efforts to landing Ex-Governor Myron Herrick in second place on the Republican ticket.

While the Republican national convention resolutions committee was hurrying to complete the platform of that body, the convention itself got down to the completion of its organization. Chairman Harding got the delegates down to business at 11:23 a. m. Most of the delegates were in their seats when the convention got down to business, but there were many vacant seats in the gallery.

"Votes for Women" will be one slogan of the Republican fight for control of the government next fall. Woman suffragists today won a hard fought battle to commit the party to the principal of suffrage and by a vote of 26 to 21 the resolutions committee voted to include the plank in the platform.

MAY REJECT THE BIDS

Commissioner Frederic E. Everett of the state highway department has opened bids on the bituminous macadam road in Manchester on the Londonderry road. Two bids were received but both were higher than the commissioner thought they should be and it is probable both will be rejected, unless the items are reduced. R. H. Newell of Uxbridge, Mass., was the lower bidder, offering to do the work for $20,983.30. Small & Ingalls, of Bar Harbor, Me., figured the job for $20,197.35. The bid was about $2000 more than Commissioner Everett estimated the job should cost.

SAWMILLS COULD USE MUCH OF THE WOOD NOW WASTED

Washington, June 7.—There are more than 45,000 sawmills in the United States, and their output of waste in the form of sawdust, shavings, slabs and other wood refuse is estimated as 16 million cords per year. This is equal to over 4 1/2 billion cubic feet of waste, which is the capacity of a bin one-half mile high with a base covering a forty-acre lot. Or, considering each cord to contain eighty cubic feet of solid wood with all the cracks and air spaces taken out, there 25 million cords would make a block of wood more than a quarter of a mile on each edge.

Perhaps one-half of this so-called waste product is not strictly speaking wasted, but serves a useful purpose as fuel under the boilers. Much of the remaining 15 million cords not only serves no useful purpose, but in most cases is a source of inconvenience and danger, and costs the mill time and money.

Sawmill waste is disposed of in various ways. Some goes to the local fuel market, some to pulp mills or to wood distillation plants. Shavings and hog-curdles, as well as other mill waste, are sometimes used to fill low places in the yard. However, the most common method of getting rid of waste is by burning either in a fire-pit having an open fire which sometimes has a protecting wall on the side towards the mill, or in a burner enclosed on all sides and having a spark-arresting screen at the top and a fire grate near the bottom. In both cases some kind of a conveyor is necessary to hear the waste from the mill to the fire. This is usually a sort of trough with a metal bottom along which a slowly moving chain or cable, equipped with cleats or buckets, carries the waste to the fire.

A closed burner and conveyor costs about $12,000 for a mill of a hundred thousand feet daily capacity. Forty per cent of the larger mills, cutting more than 55,000 board feet daily, are equipped with closed burners. Forty-five per cent have firepits. The remainder have neither and dispose of their waste in some other way.

It is estimated that for a mill of one hundred thousand feet capacity the cost of conveying the waste from the machine where it is made and destroying it in a closed burner is 12 cents per cord or $10.00 per day. Burners seldom bring in any revenue, although in a few cases ashes are sold for fertilizer, and in a number of others the burner furnishes hot feed water for the boilers.

Both burners and fire-pits add to the insurance rates on lumber, and in the case of the pit on the mill itself. In order to reduce the fire hazard to zero, in the case of the burner, it is necessary to keep all lumber piles at least one hundred and fifty feet away from the burner. The matter is much worse in the case of pits, especially the open ones, which must be kept three hundred feet away from the mill and five hundred feet away from any lumber piles. When nearer than these distances from the mill and yard respectively, the insurance rates mount up rapidly with closer proximity until they become practically prohibitive when the fire-pit is nearer than one hundred feet.

No well managed mill would produce waste if it could be avoided. This, however, is not possible, so the next best thing is to seek out some method of utilization of the waste so it will pay for its disposition. The Forest Service is working on this problem, but has not yet found a satisfactory solution.

FARM HANDS WANTED FOR KANSAS CROPS

The annual call of Kansas for men to move the grain crop is again being made through the 18 zones which the department of labor has established from Boston to Los Angeles.

Kansas farmers promise good wages to the 35,000 or 40,000 men needed in the wheat and corn fields, but those desiring work on the farms must pay their carfare.

In the past few years Kansas has recruited its emergency farming force principally from the colleges. In fact, many students have returned to college in the fall with sufficient funds to pay tuition for the entire winter term.

The Kansas harvest will begin about the middle of the month, and will continue well into October. The farmers would like English-speaking white men of average intelligence, and for such they will pay minimum wages of $2 a day with board. Students will receive from $3.50 to $6 a day, engineers from $5.50 to $8 a day, and men with teams from $1 to $7 a day.

This effort on the part of the department of labor to supply the labor wants of Kansas as well as those of other industrial centers is being made from the zone headquarters in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Norfolk, Jacksonville, New Orleans, Galveston, Cleveland, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Denver, Helena, Seattle, Portland, Ore.; San Francisco and Los Angeles. C. L. Green, general inspector in charge of employment and distribution work, who will be stationed in Kansas City, Mo., proposes that all prospective farm hands pay their tickets with step-over privileges in Kansas City. This will enable them to visit the department headquarters at 501 Grand avenue for definite information regarding the locality where they are needed, and the quickest and best way to reach the scene of their summer labors.

Oklahoma is also in need of farming help, although the demand is not so large nor so pressing as that of the neighboring state. About 10,000 hands are wanted in the extreme northwest part of Oklahoma, known as the pan handle, where the harvest is expected to begin on June 15.

The department of labor is engaged in trying to supply skilled workmen for other industrial centers, while plumbers and machinists are wanted in the Panama Zone, transportation to which will be furnished by the government.

The Boston zone, with the assistance of the branch offices at Portland, New Bedford and Providence, furnished 200 hands for work on Kansas farms last year, and the response to the call this year is expected to be even larger.

POLICE ARE SEARCHING FOR WOMAN'S ASSAILANTS

Haverhill, Mass., June 7.—Police today began a search for two unknown men who, late yesterday afternoon, entered the house at 70 Hlow street and attacked Mrs. Annie W. Isles, wife of J. C. Isles, manager of the local office of the Western Union Telegraph company, when she demanded to know what they were doing there.

The men escaped when Mrs. Isles screamed for help after scratching one of the men in the face when he attacked her. Mrs. Isles was able to furnish the police with a good description of the men and a general report was sent out to the officers to be on the watch for anyone answering their description. No trace of the woman's assailants had been discovered up to 1 o'clock this afternoon.

While Mrs. Isles was at her home, 70 Hlow street, late yesterday afternoon she heard the door open and steps mounting the stairs. She went into the corridor and discovered two young men in a room occupied by another tenant of the house.

Mrs. Isles asked the men what they were doing there, and they answered that they had been invited to visit a friend. Then the other of the two pair suddenly leaped forward and seized

Mrs. Isles in his arms. He threw her down while the other man seized a glass of water which stood on a stand in the room. Mrs. Isles tore her left arm free and in her efforts to break away dug her fingernails deeply into her assailant's cheek, while she screamed for help. Alarmed by the screams and suffering pain from the scratches on his face the man released Mrs. Isles and he and his companion ran from the house.

Mrs. Isles immediately notified the police and a search for the men was commenced, but thus far it has been fruitless. Mrs. Isles said one man is about 22 years of age, five feet six inches in height and was dressed in a blue suit, a soft brown hat, soft shirt, collar and green necktie. His face was marked by the scratches made by her fingernails and when he left the house the wounds were bleeding. The fingernail marks may aid in identifying the man.

The other is younger, between 22 or 23 years of age, five feet four inches in height, wore a gray suit and cap, a white collar with blue stripes and had a scar on the left cheek. Both men are dark complexioned, and were apparently foreigners.

CONVENTION DISTRICT LIKE THEATRE STAGE

Chicago, Ill., June 7.—These convention crowds, a few persons at a time in the past week, are now coming in companies and regiments. The downtown district is a stage, a tremendous nothing place, with the footlights on Michigan avenue. For there the great crowds promenade from one hotel to another, all seeking to see and hear. Every hotel of prominence away from the city's display thoroughfare is the scene of convention activity, and Chicago, accustomed as it is to conventions, has turned itself over completely to the visitors.

The women, the wives and daughters, who accompany the delegates, have much more to attend to on this occasion than at former conventions. Heretofore they have been concerned principally in the sight and the shops. Now they have the suffragists' convention to attend and talk about while the men are engaged in caucuses and in delegation meetings. For the benefit of visitors, a pyrotechnical display has been arranged for Wednesday night, to take place at the foot of Van Buren street.

As compared with the convention four years ago, there is less noise and excitement by far than characterized the former event. The one purpose in 1912 seemed to be to break away. Now the purpose apparently is to get together if possible. The faces on Michigan avenue are smiling, but the atmosphere is subdued and quiet. The arrival of delegations led by bands playing patriotic airs attract the usual crowds, but there is less of the partisan cry and clatter of factionalism.

Then there is the Coliseum itself the great structure that will house the political history factory of the coming days. Its floor is now a vista of chairs, and its big arched dome backed with masses of hunting. Seats have been provided for 12,000 persons. The number is 500 larger than the management of the Coliseum ever before has been able to seat, but by taking advantage of corners and spaces in the galleries, never before utilized, room for the placing of additional seats has been found.

Arrangements have been made also to assure all in the great structure hearing all that is said. That has been a difficulty in previous conventions in the building. In the aisles carpet has been laid to lessen the sound of tramping feet, while a great sounding board has been provided to assist in carrying the voices from the speaker's stand.

From each of the chaises an unobstructed view of the speaker's stand is obtained, and everything that could be thought of to help make the convention satisfactory from the standpoint of hearing and seeing has been utilized by the management.

BOSTON ITEMS

Boston, June 8.—The members of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange are supporting the movement to set the clocks of the country ahead one hour to conform with the plan adopted by several European countries to increase the use of daylight hours. The exchange has sent a letter to all of the Massachusetts congressmen urging them to support the movement. In the letter the following arguments in favor of the plan are advanced:

"Any increased use of the daylight hours is good business policy. "It would be a wonderful advantage to employees and would make for added efficiency.

"Employees would benefit greatly in the improved health incident upon more rational hours of out door life and amusement.

"It would mean savings of millions of dollars annually to manufacturers, merchants, business men and householders in reduced costs of lighting and heating.

"The number of street accidents will be greatly reduced because business hours will be more largely daylight hours.

"In a general way it spells greater efficiency, greater economy and greater comfort."

Blindness in Massachusetts is being reduced to a minimum through the educational and co-operative methods of the Massachusetts commission for the blind. The commission with the help of the State department of health, local boards of health and other agencies has been able to place an effective check upon the dreaded disease known as ophthalmia neonatorum. This disease has caused ten per cent of the blindness and the percentage is even greater than that among babies but owing to the efficiency of the commission only one case of this character was reported in the whole of Massachusetts during the past year. Massachusetts today has a blind population of about 1,000. Medical authorities are agreed that 11.7 per cent of blindness can be prevented and that a few years have brought such gratifying results in combating one prevalent cause of blindness means added encouragement for co-operative prevention work against other causes.

Mothers, don't kiss your children. This is the advice of Dr. Charles B. Perry of the New Hampshire County Sanatorium as outlined by him in his address on "Tuberculosis Carriers" at the 135th anniversary meeting of the Massachusetts Medical Society at the Copley-Plaza hotel.

Dr. Perry devoted most of his remarks to precautions that should be taken to prevent the spread of the white plague. He warned against the kissing of babies, particularly by women and old persons with coughs.

Few persons even in the most modern and civilized communities reach maturity without being infected, he said and added that the majority of tuberculosis victims are infected before reaching the age of 16. Dr. Perry also stated that children should not be exposed to tuberculosis infection by taking them into crowded public places.

BAR AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS

Mexicans Eager for Uncle Sam's Dollars, However.

Boston, June 8.—American newspapers are not allowed in Progress, according to Captain Thestrup of the steamship Bayamo, because they contain too much of an intimate nature relative to Mexican affairs. The Bayamo arrived yesterday and her officers reported matters unusually quiet. American dollars were in demand, however, a native offering 50 of the de facto government's paper dollars for one backed by Uncle Sam. While at Progress, owners of the Bayamo were offered $600,000 for the ship, although she cost them $175,000 a few years ago, a striking illustration of the insistent demand for tonnage. The Bayamo brought 6103 boxes of sisal, which was destined to Plymouth, the captain having been ordered to proceed here when at Havana where the ship called to land a passenger. The freighter was seven days from Progress and berthed at Pisco's wharf.

Many illnesses of women are directly or indirectly caused by the extremely laborious work of washing. Why risk your health, then, in doing the work when we can do it better for but $50 the week's wash? This plant doesn't mix washes and our modern equipment does the washing with surprising thoroughness and gentleness. Call 452W and try us.

A STRANGE THING

It is, that more people do not realize the true economy of having footwear mended by experts. Why suffer needlessly with stiff new shoes that hurt when you can have your comfortable old ones made to look like new and to give you good service for a long time, if you bring them to us for work in shoe repairing? Give our careful work in this line a fair trial. We get all orders out promptly.

CITY COUNCIL TO CONSIDER $30,000 LOAN

QUESTION OF HANDLING THE PAYMENT OF THE SUM NEE-DED TO SETTLE THE CITY'S BONDER DEBTEDNESS WILL BE DISCUSSED TONIGHT

The adjourned meeting of the City Council will be held at the council chamber this evening at 8:00 o'clock to discuss the question of the advisability of issuing a serial note for six years to pay for the $30,000, which the city is to borrow. At the meeting called a week ago on Friday the Mayor proposed that serial notes for $5,000 denominations be issued to take care of this loan, but his plan was opposed by one of the members of the council who claimed he will submit another plan which he did not care to "divulge at this time," but which he considered as more satisfactory.

It is understood that the finance committee has been holding sessions since the last meeting and the several plans presented have been discussed. Some plan will have to be considered and passed by the council at this meeting as the city must borrow this sum soon in order to pay off the $145,000 bond which is due on July 1. There is at present $100,000 in the sinking fund and another $20,000 in the city treasury, leaving a deficit of $15,000. With the $30,000 borrowed, $15,000 will be left in the treasury for carrying on the city's business until the taxes can be realized upon. The council is expected to vote the bond issue without debate, the only question being the method of paying for the loan.

CABLE LETTER

(By H. Warner Allen, Special Correspondent of the British Press With the French Army.)

Forest of the Argonne, June 4.—It was one of those little operations which have been daily taking place for the last twenty months all along the French front. It was a question of silencing out the line, of driving out the Germans from a point of vantage which was annoying the front trenches, and the whole affair took place on ground which had been torn to pieces not only by shells but also by mine explosions.

It was in one of these ravines so characteristic of the Argonne that we met the colonel in charge of this section. The colonel was rubbing his hands with glee as he came down the hill towards us. "Welcome gentlemen," he said; "you have come in the nick of time. We have just had a nice little success and done just what we wanted and without the loss of a man. If you hurry to the observation post above you will be able to watch our men digging themselves in the enemy's positions, and you will be in time for the reply of the enemy."

From the observation post the contrast was an extraordinary one. We had left the woods of great trees, green with spring foliage; we had left the ground where violets and all the spring flowers were in bloom. Before our eyes there lay a white, naked hill, where a few sorry trunks and stems as bare as broomsticks, took the place of the trees they once had been and where all green things and all flowers had disappeared, a wept away by an avalanche of steel and fire.

This destruction was the work of the French guns. Once the slopes had been as green and shady as the forest through which we passed. But the three and underwood gave shelter to the enemy, and so relentlessly they had been destroyed. How many shells that hill had received during months of fighting, no man can say. It suffices to know that their holes touch one another across its whole expanse. In the sunlight one looks out on the may of the moon, for the shadow of each shell hole is mysterious and black, throwing into vivid contrast the white ridges that lie between. It was round one of the mind erasers that the day's fight had taken place.

As a preliminary to the operation the men had been withdrawn from the advance trenches at the point where the assault was to be made, for the opposing lines were only nine or ten yards apart, and the best artillery in the world cannot be accurate within so small a limit. The danger of French shells bursting in the French trenches was too great to be risked. The evacuation accomplished, 250 6-inch shells were neatly thrown on the coveted point of the German lines.

These shells, it was reckoned would be more than sufficient to demolish all the German shelters and machine guns and to stupefy any of the men of the enemy who might have been lucky enough to escape the bombardment. Meanwhile the 75's opened fire to left and right of the doomed position, so that no help could come from either side, and the enemy might be discouraged from an attack on the evacuated trenches. The guns did their work beautifully and when the storm of six inch shells had finished, the storming party dashed out with bayonet and grenade.

There was scarcely any resistance. The grenade or bayonet accounted for every German left alive and in a few minutes were working as men who know that their lives depend on their industry can work to strengthen their position.

Up in the observation post we watched in an agony of expectation, the Frenchmen working feverishly at their sandbags. Surely the German artillery was going to open on them and wipe them out before they had time to raise a rampart of defense? But except for the crack of a rifle and an occasional grenade, the silence was broken only by the roar of guns far away. Each moment the bank of the sand bags grew higher, and we knew that as the bank rose the trench behind was deepening. At last it became clear that for the moment, at any rate the enemy had decided to sit down under his defeat, and was in no mood to sting back.

The French 6-inch gun makes a very considerable amount of noise, and its shells, both from their whistling in the air and exploding, should be audible to the deafest ears. Yet in this war, noise has become a purely relative term, and a mere detail of several hundred six inch shells whistling over one's head and bursting a few hundred yards away, may pass unnoticed. When we left the observation post we met a major, certainly not more than 300 yards from the advanced lines and he had not heard a sound of the bombardment which preceded the attack.

"When is our artillery preparation going to begin?" he asked the staff officer who was conducting me round the lines. "I understood that we were going to make an attack on the point D. Has it been put off?"

"Why," replied the officer, "it is all over and we have captured all we were aiming at without any loss."

The afternoon ended so far as we were concerned, with tea in the colonel's dugout. The colonel was naturally jubilant. Only one man had been actually wounded in the whole affair.

MEMORIAL DAY AT LUNA.

The "cold commercialized world" has received a severe jolt and it took Patriotism to administer the blow and score a clean victory.

among amusement enterprises human sentiment exists. However, an example just brought to public notice by an achievement of the management of Luna, Coney Island's wonder park, must be acknowledged as being decidedly human.

Luna is an enterprise which represents a million dollars invested. It is strictly a summer resort with a season of one hundred days, during which time every moment must record a goodly sum spent by pleasure seekers to keep the ledger balanced. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays are looked upon as savants for the investors in their efforts to prevent the ledger becoming unbalanced and sway to the loss side.

Along came Memorial Day, regarded as the real opening day of the summer and one of the best days of the entire season for the managers of summer parks. Every minute from the hour the park opens its gates in the morning until they close at night is worth dollars, yes hundreds of dollars to those who have risked, perhaps a fortune, in providing amusement.

At three in the afternoon, the hour when some forty thousand persons within the gates of Luna were clamoring for an opportunity to spend their dimes in an insatiable desire for gaiety, every wheel within the big forty acre enclosure stopped. The forty thousand persons suddenly found themselves denied the privilege of spending even a penny. They stood in line awaiting their turns on the various rides, they were listening attentively to the speakers and barkers about the merits of their side shows; they were roaring with laughter at some ridiculous attraction; their arms were raised in the act of hitting the African dodger; scores of other diversions were claiming their attention, all of which imparted the spirit of the care-free and gay.

A going in one of the tall towers of the park tolled four bells, the machinery stopped, the speakers hushed, the ticket sellers refused to receive the dimes, the chutes stopped shooting, the rides stopped riding, and the swings stopped swinging. A period of quiet reigned, then the soft summer breeze wafted the strains of the Star Spangled Banner throughout the park.

The forty thousand persons were aroused, the spark had burst into a tremendous conflagration. Patriotism had seized their innermost selves and clung with a powerful grasp. Forty thousand hats were removed, forty thousand faces became solemn, forty thousand heads were bowed as the forty thousand persons were brought to the stern realization of why they were allowed a holiday on May 30th.

For eight minutes in rapid attention these real human beings paid reverence to the noble lives sacrificed for the great cause. Not one of the eight minutes, apparently, was a thought given to the merriment which preceded and would follow thereafter. Borough President, Edmunds of Brookly delivered a brief address while the merry-makers bowed their respect and while the management of the great park enterprise was losing hundreds of dollars. But Patriotism had won a decisive victory and there was not the least semblance of the "cold commercialized world" within the gates of Luna.

What a wonderful spirit to prompt a Memorial as grand. The idea of the Luna management to cause true Americans to hesitate in their gay festivities to pay tribute, and the spirit in which it was accepted, will go down in the annals of Patriotism, never to be effaced.

At the end of the eight-minute commemoration, the four bells tolled the signal; the machinery was started, the merry-makers resumed their merry-making; the speakers began their spelling; the ticket sellers were rushed to their utmost, the chutes started their shooting; and the wheels of the park were again in motion. But Patriotism had won the day.

After all this is not a bad old world and there is a great deal of human sentiment in it.

REED TO LEAVE FOR ISLAND POST NEXT FRIDAY

Philippine Commissioner Eugene E. Reed will leave Manchester Friday morning at 11:05 o'clock en route for Vancouver, from which he sails on Tuesday, June 13, for the Philippines. The journey will occupy seventeen days. Mr. Reed has been reluctantly obliged to forego the pleasure of being one of the delegates at the Democratic National convention because the fast boats sail infrequently, and the next boat which sails out of Vancouver on July 13 is a twenty-eight days boat.

He will land at Manila on July 4 in time to participate in any celebration the island possessions may have to celebrate American independence. He is provided with the necessary passport for his journey of 10,000 miles.

The Empress of Russia, on which he will sail, is one of the fastest boats in Pacific waters. She will touch at Yokohama, after nine days' sail along the northern route, next at Kobe, and in turn at Nagasaki, Shanghai and Hong Kong. From the last named stopping place the boat will proceed to Manila.

Mr. Reed's son, Royden Reed will be the only one to accompany him. There will be only three commissioners in the islands, including Mr. Reed.

"Portsmouth is baseball crazy" was a remark made by a visitor yesterday afternoon. If that's all that is the matter with Portsmouth we should get along pretty well.

Every citizen in Portsmouth should display the national flag next Wednesday, Flag Day. This paper will supply one for 5 coupons found elsewhere in this issue, and 55 cents.

It is expected that the city council will be asked at this evening's meeting to grant a license to the Arlington Brothers of the 101 Ranch Show to play in Portsmouth this summer.

It is learned that Haverhill's policeman made her first arrest on Tuesday after one year's service on the force. Her prisoner pleaded guilty to being drunk in court on Wednesday morning. Looks like 1000 in her batting average in convictions to date.

CEMETERY LOTS

CARED FOR AND TURFING DONE.

With increased facilities the subscribers again are prepared to take charge of and keep in order such lots in any of the cemeteries of the city as may be entrusted to their care. They will also give careful attention to the turfing and grading of them, also to the cleaning of monuments and headstones, and the removal of bodies. In addition to work at the cemeteries they will do turfing and grading in the city on short notice.

Cemetery lots for sale; also Loans and Turf.

Orders left at residence, corner of Richards avenue and South street, or by mail with Oliver A. Halm, 54 Market street, will be given prompt attention.

NINETEEN HAVE ANSWERED LAST CALL

The flag displayed on the central fire station on Memorial Day not only marked respect for the dead heroes of the Civil war, but signified another event. It was on May 30, 1910, that the Keeney company was organized and of the 24 men that constituted the original company, 19 have answered the last call.

MASONS TO ENTERTAIN

St. John's Lodge of Boston Will Be Guests of St. John's of This City.

On Wednesday evening, June 14, a special communication of St. John's Lodge, No. 1, A. F. and A. M., will be held at Masonic hall for the purpose of entertaining St. John's Lodge of Boston, Mass.

The Boston brethren will leave Boston on a special at 5:45 o'clock, making one stop at Beverly, Mass., and will arrive here about 7:15 o'clock. They will be escorted directly to Masonic hall where a reception will be held. After the interchange of greetings the Master Mason degree will be conferred by the officers of the local lodge, assisted by the Lotus Quartet of Boston. The special guests of the evening will be Melvin M. Johnson, grand master of Massachusetts, Geo. E. Hales, grand master of New Hampshire, William M. Farrington, grand marshal of Massachusetts and David S. Draper, grand marshal of New Hampshire. At the conclusion of the work St. John's Lodge and its guests will adjourn to Freeman's hall where a banquet will be served, followed by post prandial exercises. Owing to the limited space in Masonic hall, the attendance at this communication will be confined to the members of St. John's Lodge and its invited guests.

THE HERALD HEARS

That the city council meets tonight and considerable business is on the docket.

That it is said that the board of police commissioners will appear before the council and appeal for more money for the department.

That the police board should have what they ask for within reason.

That there seems to be a cry for an efficient police force but a kick comes up when the necessary money is required to make it efficient.

That the reduction in candle power of the street lights by the city council was not the best thing that could happen.

That the new steam fire engine for the navy yard is some machine and is capable of doing excellent work.

That some drivers of autos about town should have safety first signs hung in front of them at all times.

That ward four will have a candidate for mayor in the next primary.

That some local Democrats are planning to take in the national convention at St. Louis.

That "Camp Preparedness" at the Sagamore was not prepared for the battle with mosquitoes.

That these biting beasts have had served fine hammocks since the Creek A. C. opened camp life in the pines.

That one member of the camp is said to be shooting these insects with a rifle.

That the members are contemplating putting the camp under ground to get away from them.

That once again we hear of the Colonial Paper Co. plant being sold.

That the report this time comes from Boston parties who appear not to know much about such a transaction if one look place.

That the paper mill owners know nothing of any deal but are ready to make one any time with anybody who has the cash.

That two Portsmouth college students will teach school in Russia after graduation and expect to take up the work before 1917.

That the report on the fire alarm will be presented to the city council tonight.

That the U. S. Army has a recruiting station at Newburyport.

That the new designs for dimes, quarters and half dollars will go on the same July 1.

That it is understood that the expert who recently made an examination of the fire alarm system recommends several changes and mostly in rewiring of the circuits.

That the Dover city government has appropriated $300 towards the expenses of a Fourth of July celebration.

That a city clerk who has been marrying several couples of late gives a book book with every marriage certificate. What has City Clerk Drew got for a drawing card at the local Greta Green?

WOMEN HAVE NARROW ESCAPE ON BRIDGE

Close Call From Going Into River at Noble's Island.

A few days ago two women in an auto on their way into Maine had a close call on the Noble's Island bridge and barely escaped a watery grave in the Piscataqua river.

The accident happened on the narrow highway draw where a large auto truck and the machine occupied by the women attempted to pass in opposite directions over the same. For the women were obliged to crowd to the right side to such an extent that the front wheel of the machine went through the bridge railing and when the auto stopped one wheel was hanging over the water and the other on the very edge of the bridge planking.

Several workmen at the wharf of James Houghan rushed to the draw where the frantic women still in the machine were pale with fright. The men assisted them by lifting the auto back from its perilous position and fixing up the damaged parts of the machine as much as possible.

Unless great care is exercised by drivers of vehicles, or the draw re-modeled to the same width of the bridge, accidents are liable to occur there that may result fatally.

ANNUAL MEETING OF IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY

Records Show Usual Work for Beautification of the City During Past Year.

The fifteenth annual meeting of the Portsmouth Improvement Society was held at the office of its secretary, George A. Wood, 19 Market Square, on Wednesday evening, June 7, with President Gooding in the chair. A goodly number of representative citizens were present.

The meeting was called to order at 8 p. m. Report of the secretary was read and approved. Report of the treasurer showed balance on hand at the close of the society year of $227.67.

The report of the tree committee showed that a large number of trees had been set out during the year in those sections of the city which most needed them.

The record of the year shows a constant effort, not only to accomplish actual beautification of the community by setting out shrubs and trees, but also an influence exerted particularly upon the cleanliness of streets and orderliness in private grounds.

The tree committee was authorized to expend $100 for the coming year in setting out new trees.

The president was authorized to expend not to exceed $50 for any beneficial object which he might deem appropriately connected with the purpose of the organization.

The nominating committee brought in the following list of officers which were elected by unanimous vote:

President—Alfred Gooding.
Vice President—Mrs. W. A. Hall.
Secretary—George A. Wood.
Treasurer—William N. Rugg.
Directors—C. A. Hazlett, H. P. Montgomery, F. D. Lewis, Rev. J. H. Thayer, James N. Pringle, James P. Griffin, Miss Annie M. Virell, Mrs. W. D. Walker, Miss Mary B. Call, Miss Frances A. Mathes, Miss Emily Dracell.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

CITY MEN WANT HALF HOLIDAY ON SATURDAY

Board Puts Petition Over for a Week; Will Not Include Men at Pumping Station.

At the regular meeting of the board of public works on Wednesday evening a petition was received from the workmen of the street, sewer and water divisions asking a half holiday on Saturday afternoons with pay from June 17 to Sept. 16.

The board held the petition on the table for one week during which time the reading of the petition will be changed so as not to include the force employed at the several pumping stations.
